

Low Fidelity Prototype

For the low fidelity prototype, I decided to keep the design simple and focus on a layout that would be intuitive. The items in the users cart appear as a list, with subheadings of Quantity, Flavor and Price. In a column on the right, there are two options for the user, Edit and Remove so that the two possible tasks are clear to them.

High Fidelity Prototype

For the high fidelity prototype, I kept the simple design of the low fidelity prototype, but added color in terms of brown, white and black so as to match with the rest of my design. I also added a horizontal brown divider between items of a list to make things clearer.
